

ADS EXPANDS PRINT FACILITIES

ADS Graphics has added to its firmly established digital print facilities by investing in 2 new digital presses (Océ's CS665 Pro & CPS900).

Printed materials are output with no ozone emissions, so there is less to worry about on the environmental front and the presses feature a new high-definition toner that serves up rich colours and dense, luscious blacks.

The system produces beautiful, full-colour work that give customers the tools needed to command attention in an information-saturated world.

ADS Environmental Credentials Reinforced

There is increasing concern over the environmental impact of everything that is made and sold in today's global marketplace.

In order to provide some comfort, ADS has been awarded Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) certification – No. SGS-COC-004428.

Customers have been able to specify FSC-certified materials through ADS companies for several years but this new certification allows use of the FSC logo on the customer's end product.

The new service is designed to assist customers by demonstrating to the end user that their printed materials have been manufactured using materials sourced from well-managed forests, thereby reducing the environmental impact of purchasing the final product.
